

AWESTRUCK BY AEROSMITH

America's all-time top-selling rock band begins an 18-show residency in April at the new Park MGM resort's Park Theater. They're in the Rock and Roll Hall of Fame and truly require no introduction, having won four Grammys, eight American Music Awards, six Billboard Awards, and 12 MTV Video Music Awards. The immersive high-tech production for "Aerosmith: Deuces are Wild" features never before seen visuals and audio from Aerosmith recording sessions, plus new Hyperreal Sound technology by THX and L-Acoustics. (Producer Giles Martin also created the soundscape for "The Beatles LOVE" show by Cirque du Soleil.) 3770 South Las Vegas Boulevard, ticketmaster.com/aerosmith

LIQUID REFRESHMENT

If the same-old Sin City bling just isn't lighting your fire, drop by The Cosmopolitan and its associated shops. There, you'll find the Jason of Beverly Hills jewelry store and its four-model-line range of bespoke and/or already customized Dunamis timepieces—their common design component loose "liquid diamonds" that flow freely about the face. Seen here is a piece from the Dunamis Hubris collection, with a 25-jewel Swiss automatic movement and exhibition backing. 3708 S Las Vegas Boulevard, jasonofbh.com

ITALIAN INVASION

Eataly continues to spread the gospel of Italian food across America with its newest 40,000-square foot location at the Park MGM. There, Cucina del Mercato is a recent highlight—a six-counter layout that breaks the barrier between restaurant and store. Choose fresh meat from the case at La Macelleria or select sustainable fish from La Pescheria, then have the chefs prepare it before your eyes. Eataly's commitment to education manifests, too, as guests watch fresh bread, pasta, gelato, mozzarella, and other dishes being made. An interactive chef's table experience features culinary demonstrations like olive oil tastings and learning how to shape perfect pillowy gnocchi. 3770 South Las Vegas Boulevard, eataly.com
