

NEW YORK CITY

THE METROPOLITAN MUSEUM OF ART

AU NATUREL

Approximately 50 paintings by artists of the School of Paris, plus a group of erotic watercolors, drawings, and prints of mainly nude subjects by icons like Gustav Klimt, Egon Schiele (his “Female Nude with Orange-Red Cloth” seen here), and Pablo Picasso, will be displayed together for the first time beginning July at The Met Breuer. These works are from The Met’s Scofield Thayer Collection, and Thayer collected many of the drawings by Schiele and Klimt while he was a patient of Sigmund Freud in Vienna in the 1920s. The exhibition will run through October 7 and marks the centenary of the death of Klimt and Schiele. 945 Madison Avenue, metmuseum.org/visit/met-breuer

Just a few blocks from the Javits Center and The Highline, Cachet Boutique New York Hotel opened as a “new lifestyle concept” in its 105 rooms, including an executive suite adjacent to the bocce court. Three outdoor junior suites feature spacious terraces with one-of-a-kind murals by Big Apple graffiti artist Queen Andrea. The hotel’s restaurant, Eden Local, features holistic and sustainable dishes, such as grass-fed beef tartare, sprouted lentil falafel, and whole-grain risotto with roasted mushrooms. The SkyDeck is an ideal spot to sip a summertime spritz. 510 West 42nd Street, cachetboutiquenyc.com

AMERICAN EXPRESS

For the second summer, Eleven Madison Park partners with American Express to present a seasonal summer restaurant in the Hamptons. EMP Summer House will serve a bounty of Long Island produce along with locally-sourced seafood, pasta, and steaks. Before dinner, grab a drink at the bar and work up an appetite playing cornhole, pétanque, and ping pong in the backyard. You’ll need an Amex card to make a reservation, and the pop-up will be open Wednesday through Sunday through mid-September. (Later this year, look for EMP Winter House in Aspen.) 341 Pantigo Road, East Hampton, empsummerhouse.com

SUPER SAUCY

The team behind the family-style Lower East Side favorite Sauce Restaurant will present a new nostalgic pizza parlor in early August, just blocks away in the East Village. As you might expect, a certain tomato-based liquid wonder is still the star at Sauce Pizzeria, with simmering pots beckoning as soon as you enter, and owner/partner Adam Elzer suggests diners have “sauce on everything.” Choose from a selection of signature pies at the counter, including classic New York-style crust or gluten-free cauliflower crust. Every order comes with extra sides of...you guessed it—perfect for dipping crusts or drenching salads. 245 East 12th Street, saucepizzeria.com
