ARIA LAUNCHES LOUNGES

ARIA Resort & Casino has debuted two new lounges for the high roller in us all. The Concierge Lounge is available to all guests, connecting visitors with more than 50 concierge team members, including eight associates from Les Clefs d'Or (the national organization of hotel lobby concierges), to plan the perfect trip in a cozy living room setting. The Resort Club Lounge, meanwhile, available to guests staying in the 125 Resort Club rooms, is adjacent to the ARIA Café, offering business services, complimentary wine and beer during "social hour," and food throughout the day. (Try banana bread with coconut cream for breakfast, lobster roll hors d'oeuvres and chocolate covered strawberries and caramel chouquettes for dessert.) 3730 South Las Vegas Boulevard, aria.com

Lady Gaga launches her Las Vegas residency at the Park MGM's new Park Theater on December 28. The six-time Grammy Award winner and Golden Globe winner will perform two distinct shows in the intimate venue. Lady Gaga Enigma presents her top hits with trademark glamor and pizzazz, while Lady Gaga Jazz & Piano features stripped-down renditions of her tunes, along with music from the Great American Songbook. Performances will run through November 8, 2019 (tickets start at $77.90). 3770 South Las Vegas Boulevard, gagavegas.com

SPIN CITY

The city's hottest new speakeasy opens New Year's weekend, courtesy of brothers Jonnie and Mark Houston. The duo behind LA destinations Black Rabbit Rose and No Vacancy are going "even bigger" with On The Record at Park MGM. Enter through a record shop to the 11,000-square-foot music-centric club and dance the night away in the shadow of a 1963 Bristol Lodekka double-decker bus converted into a DJ booth. Inspired by the '60s, The Beatles, and their father, the space inspires nostalgia. "If our dad had a living room in Vegas, this is what it would look like," Mark Houston said. 3770 South Las Vegas Boulevard, instagram.com/ontherecordlv

BIENVENUE HERMÈS!

Thumbing its nose at the somewhat anxious state of Vegas retail, Hermès opened its newest boutique in July at the Shops at Crystals, and in gorgeously understated fashion. No blinking lights or club music here—simply a selection of products occupying a 13,000-square-foot space (designed by Parisian architecture agency RDAI) that encompasses the French style house's sixteen métiers—from fragrances to women's wear, haute couture to equestrian accessories to calf-leather boxing gloves.

"This space used to be a dark, very Vegas club and restaurant," offered Hermès's USA President and CEO Robert Chavez to the Robb Report. "But we saw the potential to turn it into a place where we can welcome top clients into the world of our brand." 3720 S Las Vegas Boulevard, hermes.com/us/en

E-BIKE EXTREMES

Escape Adventures has been the top biking and eco-adventure tour company in Vegas for 25 years, taking visitors to the Grand Canyon, Red Rock Canyon, Death Valley, and Bryce and Zion National Parks. This season, several new tours debut the use of electric bikes—for the first time allowing riders with little or no experience access to some of the most beautiful mountains in the region. The most anticipated tour will visit Lake Tahoe and the High Sierras; normally a very challenging ride for even the most experienced cyclist, it's now accessible to everyone, including families. 10575 Discovery Drive, escapeadventures.com
